4Q Ramp Is Main Pushback; Estimate Sales Hiring Eats 1 Pt of Margin in FY27

CHKP reported 2Q revenue in line with our estimate, driven by better product but lower maintenance as less refresh impacted services. Main pushback is on 4Q ramp as some refresh pushed from 3Q to 4Q. Sales hiring we estimate could equate to ~100 bps of margin in FY27. More below...

Three key takeaways from CHKP's 2Q26 print and unchanged FY26 guide: (1) product revenue was down 14% y/y in 2Q which was better than modelled, but maintenance revenue was lower as less refresh also resulted in less professional services (~15% of maintenance revenue) - billings was in line, but remember this had some duration headwind as at least one deal went with quarterly billings versus annual, so it's worth noting RPO bookings grew 7% y/y including inorganic; (2) looking to 2H26, we model a similar y/y decline in product in 3Q followed by MSD growth in product in 4Q as some refresh deals pushed more into 4Q - this is the biggest pushback we are getting as 4Q q/q growth is more than usual, so we go to the lower half of FY26 guide to derisk this, and we also lower our FY27 margin to be down y/y to reflect a net new ~150 sales reps added; (3) other tidbits include another potential price increase for CHKP as we have seen with peers, and zooming out we expect sales hiring could drive moderate acceleration in FY27 to MSD growth, but remember CHKP's transformation will be a journey. We adjust our PT to $140 based on ~11x our FY27E FCF of ~$1.1B.

- 2Q key metrics: (1) product better than we expected but down 14% y/y from impact of 1Q restructuring; (2) nobody asked about maintenance which was down q/q - that is lower services on less refresh; (3) billings came in line, but had some duration headwind as at least one big deal went with quarterly billings rather than annual - worth noting that RPO bookings grew ~7%, which includes inorganic. CHKP reported 2Q revenue/non-GAAP EPS of $674M/$2.55 versus our $675M/$2.45, and within this product came in above at $113M versus our $107M, down 14% y/y. Recall, CHKP reorganized the sales force in 1Q which created disruption, and less pipeline generation which affected 2Q top of funnel and win rates in our view. Subscription revenue was in line with our estimate, so it was maintenance revenue that was actually the biggest downside surprise, down 3% y/y versus our estimate of flat y/y. Remember, about 15% of the maintenance revenue line is actually professional services, which correlates to implementations related to firewall refresh - with lower refresh, CHKP did not sell as much implementation services. Zooming out, total billings came in line with our estimates at $639M (versus our $636M) - this digested a couple of points of duration headwind, as at least one large deal opted for quarterly billings rather than annual billings. It's worth noting that RPO was up 9%, and the underlying RPO bookings grew 7% y/y, though this includes inorganic as well, so organic was likely lower.

- Looking to 2H: (1) we expect similar y/y decline in product in 3Q, followed by mid single digit growth in 4Q as more refresh expected in 4Q; (2) biggest pushback we are hearing is on 4Q ramp in most revenue lines - we are at the lower end of the guide to de-risk this; (3) CHKP will hire ~300 new quota bearing reps - about half of these are net new, which we estimate equates to $35-40M of incremental opex or ~1 point of FY27 margin. Looking to our 2H26 model, we model product revenue down in line with 3Q down 14% y/y as it sounds like some deals (worth $10-15M) that were expected to close in 3Q are now expected to close in 4Q, so 3Q is not the inflection quarter but rather it will be 4Q. We model product to grow 5% y/y in 4Q as remember the y/y comparable eases and the deal push-outs. The biggest pushback we are getting is on the implied 4Q ramp with mid-to-high teens q/q growth versus low double digit growth q/q historically - we assume similar y/y rates for subscription (10-11%), and maintenance decline moderates in 4Q, we get to the bottom half of FY26 revenue guide to de-risk this guide, but this will continue to be a bear point until we see 3Q numbers. Looking to FY27, CHKP noted it expects to hire ~300 quota bearing reps to the sales organization, of which about half would be net-new (with the remainder replacing existing) - the hiring would be done globally, so back-of-envelope, we estimate this could add $35-40M in incremental opex which on a ~$3B revenue base equates to ~1 point of margin, which prompts us to now model FY27 margins down y/y by ~100 bps.
- Other tidbits: (1) it sounds like we could see CHKP do another price increase in 2H26 to help offset higher input costs; (2) we model a return to mid single digit revenue growth in FY27 as sales hiring could start to bear fruit - but remember this is a journey, and we have to imagine inorganic will also be a component. Other firewall vendors like PANW and FTNT have done multiple price increases to reflect the continued higher input costs, and so we expect CHKP could do another price increase here in 2H26 which could be another factor in the improvement in product revenue - remember, CHKP did a 5% price increase to start the year and another 5% increase in April, so another one would be additive to this, though remember some of this gets discounted away in customer negotiations. Looking to FY27 revenue, we think the sales hiring done in 2H26 to bear some fruit in FY27 which on top of an easier compare should drive a moderate reacceleration we estimate to mid single digits. But it's important to remember that just like we saw with PANW in the early days, this will be a journey - the sales reorg, the higher sales capacity are all early moves and we imagine that inorganic will also be a part of this story, which ultimately we think could trade margin for growth. That is likely the right equation, but it is a journey in getting there - hence we adjust our PT to $140 from $145 based on ~11x (previously ~12x) our FY27E FCF of ~$1.1B.

Why EQUAL WEIGHT?

CHKP has high share in network security with a large customer base, and new appliance and cloud products to sell. The firewall space is competitive, and sales cycles could be longer as it tries to sell higher into organizations. In addition, uncertainty around the impact of Infinity pricing on the model may make multiple expansion tough, keeping us at EW.

Upside case USD 180.00

Our upside case of $180 assumes FY27 FCF comes in ~3% higher than our current estimate, and we assign a ~15x multiple.

Downside case USD 100.00

Our downside case of $100 assumes FY27 FCF comes in ~5% lower than our current estimate, and we assign a ~8x multiple.

Research analysts employed outside the US by affiliates of Barclays Capital Inc. are not registered/qualified as research analysts with FINRA. Such non-US research analysts may not be associated persons of Barclays Capital Inc., which is a FINRA member, and therefore may not be subject to FINRA Rule 2241 restrictions on communications with a subject company, public appearances and trading securities held by a research analyst's account.

Analysts regularly conduct site visits to view the material operations of covered companies, but Barclays policy prohibits them from accepting payment or reimbursement by any covered company of their travel expenses for such visits.

Barclays Research Department produces various types of research including, but not limited to, fundamental analysis, equity-linked analysis, quantitative analysis, and trade ideas. Recommendations contained in one type of Barclays Research may differ from those contained in other types of Barclays Research, whether as a result of differing time horizons, methodologies, or otherwise.

Guide to the Barclays Fundamental Equity Research Rating System:

Our coverage analysts use a relative rating system in which they rate stocks as Overweight, Equal Weight or Underweight (see definitions below) relative to other companies covered by the analyst or a team of analysts that are deemed to be in the same industry (the "industry coverage universe").

In addition to the stock rating, we provide industry views which rate the outlook for the industry coverage universe as Positive, Neutral or Negative (see definitions below). A rating system using terms such as buy, hold and sell is not the equivalent of our rating system. Investors should carefully read the entire research report including the definitions of all ratings and not infer its contents from ratings alone.

Stock Rating

Overweight - The stock is expected to outperform the unweighted expected total return of the industry coverage universe over a 12-month investment horizon.

Equal Weight - The stock is expected to perform in line with the unweighted expected total return of the industry coverage universe over a 12-month investment horizon.

Underweight - The stock is expected to underperform the unweighted expected total return of the industry coverage universe over a 12-month investment horizon.

Rating Suspended - The rating and target price have been suspended temporarily due to market events that made coverage impracticable or to comply with applicable regulations and/or firm policies in certain circumstances including where the Investment Bank of Barclays Bank PLC is acting in an advisory capacity in a merger or strategic transaction involving the company.

Industry View

Positive - industry coverage universe fundamentals/valuations are improving.

Neutral - industry coverage universe fundamentals/valuations are steady, neither improving nor deteriorating.

Negative - industry coverage universe fundamentals/valuations are deteriorating.

Below is the list of companies that constitute the "industry coverage universe":

Historical stock prices and price targets may have been adjusted for stock splits and dividends.

CE: Barclays Bank PLC and/or an affiliate is a market-maker in equity securities issued by Check Point Software Technologies Ltd..

J: Barclays Bank PLC and/or an affiliate is a liquidity provider and/or trades regularly in the securities by Check Point Software Technologies Ltd. and/or in any related derivatives.

Valuation Methodology: Our price target of $140 is based on ~11x our FY27E FCF of ~$1,084M.

Risks which May Impede the Achievement of the Barclays Research Valuation and Price Target: On the upside, risks include (1) blade adoption accelerating, taking revenue, margins, and cash flow up; (2) transformative acquisitions to accelerate growth; (3) more aggressive capital return. On the downside, risks include (1) customers preferring a best of breed approach rather than one vendor; (2) increasing competition from next-gen vendors pressuring margins.

This material, where distributed to persons in Australia, is produced or provided by Barclays Bank PLC.

This communication is directed at persons who are a "Wholesale Client" as defined by the Australian Corporations Act 2001.

Please note that the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC) has provided certain exemptions to Barclays Bank PLC (BBPLC) under paragraph 911A(2)(l) of the Corporations Act 2001 from the requirement to hold an Australian financial services licence (AFSL) in respect of financial services provided to Australian Wholesale Clients, on the basis that BBPLC is authorised by the Prudential Regulation Authority of the United Kingdom (PRA) and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority (FCA) of the United Kingdom and the PRA under United Kingdom laws. The United Kingdom has laws which differ from Australian laws. To the extent that this communication involves the provision of financial services by BBPLC to Australian Wholesale Clients, BBPLC relies on the relevant exemption from the requirement to hold an AFSL. Accordingly, BBPLC does not hold an AFSL.

This communication may be distributed to you by either: (i) Barclays Bank PLC directly, (ii) Barrenjoey Markets Pty Limited (ACN 636 976 059, "Barrenjoey"), the holder of Australian Financial Services Licence (AFSL) 521800, a non-affiliated third party distributor, where clearly identified to you by Barrenjoey. Sustainable Investing Related Research: There is currently no globally accepted framework or definition (legal, regulatory or otherwise) of, nor market consensus as to what constitutes a 'sustainable', 'ESG', 'green', 'climate-friendly' or an equivalent company, investment, strategy or consideration or what precise attributes are required to be eligible to be categorised by such terms. This means there are different ways to evaluate a company or an investment and so different values may be placed on certain sustainability credentials as well as adverse ESG-related impacts of companies and ESG controversies. The evolving nature of sustainable investing considerations, models and methodologies means it can be challenging to definitively and universally classify a company or investment under a sustainable investing label and there may be areas where such companies and investments could improve or where adverse ESG-related impacts or ESG controversies exist. The evolving nature of sustainable finance related regulations and the development of jurisdiction-specific regulatory criteria also means that there is likely to be a degree of divergence as to the interpretation of such terms in the market. We expect industry guidance, market practice, and regulations in this field to continue to evolve.
