

Largan Precision

Strong CPO ramp priced ahead of qualification

The re-rating has outpaced qualification progress; downgrade from Buy to Sell

Largan shares have risen 242% since April on optimism around its CPO FAU progress. While we stay constructive on Largan's CPO prospects, we believe the market is pricing in confidence ahead of still-early qualification progress, particularly given a crowded competitive field. Largan only starts its sample line late Q3, integrating its Prism Micro Lens Array and Fiber Array with AOET's V-groove and Corning's fiber. We expect several quarters to improve yields, gain integrator acceptance (Corning, Senko, AuthenX) and convert its initial production-oriented FA program into volume while competing against incumbent TFC and vertically integrated rivals incl. Coherent. We downgrade our rating from Buy to Sell with CPO still at an early stage and the stock now 35x 2027 vs. LT 13-18x range well above our sum-of-the-parts NT$5,000 PT based on 15x smartphone lens + 50x CPO base case for 40% share (upper end of optical peers at 14-72x).

Still a range of outcomes for CPO solution traction

Largan's approach pairs V-groove with PMLA to shape the optical light from the PIC into the fiber at high accuracy with automated assembly. Feedback is positive on Largan's precision and track record for volume production/yield improvement (now still low) and 1 FA design in an FAU. A risk is Largan targeting the Gen 3 optics should take until 2028 and also competes with incumbent TFC which is already designed-in for 2026-27 and other FAU vendors like Coherent that can vertically integrate or use meta lens not requiring Largan's initial V-groove approach. Largan's push toward a complete solution may also conflict with integration partners.

Core smartphone lens tracking behind amid memory headwinds

We also see risk on near-term results with Q326 sales tracking light. Aug sales were NT $5bn, +3% MoM, -16% YoY, taking QTD revenue to NT$10.1bn, 53% of UBSe/Street Q326. Sept would need to grow +73% MoM to meet UBSe/Street +36-38% QoQ vs. normal seasonal +8% MoM. We expect flattish builds at best for its flagship customer (80% of sales) needing to raise price to pass on memory costs +US$200-300 YoY albeit some support from high-end introducing variable-aperture lens, while foldable lens specs remain similar. Factoring muted smartphone growth but healthy margins, we view a mid-teens multiple appropriate for this business, in line with its historical range.

Stock prices in our upside case ahead of traction; risk-reward skews negative

We maintain basic '26E/27E EPS at NT$190/NT$214 and NT$5,000 SOTP PT based on 1) 15x smartphone lens (NT$3,270) + 2) 50x CPO base case EPS of NT$35 for NT$1,730 (40% share, 100k switches/7.2mn FAUs, US$150/FAU, US$1.1bn TAM), high-end of peers due to its premium ~40-45% OpM. We view risk/reward skewed negative with downside to NT$2,500 on limited CPO success and softer smartphones, base case NT $5,000 for CPO traction, and upside 22% if the stock is bid to our upside case NT$9,000 based on top-end 70x P/E on CPO earnings at 60% share of a higher US$1.58bn TAM.

UBS Research THESIS MAP a guide to our thinking and what's where in this reportPIVOTAL QUESTIONS*Q: Could Largan's CPO products contribute meaningful revenue in a few years?

We stay constructive but the company still has hurdles to clear in a crowded space. Its scale and track record in high-end smartphone lens gives it an opportunity supplying key components of the CPO FAU assembly, traditional strength in precision lens micro assemblies, alignment accuracy, in-house tooling and automation that could give it a differentiated solution. Our feedback at Semicon Taiwan suggests the company is still early in qualification, with its sample production line for customer evaluation readied in late September and still requiring work with a system integrator and qualification with the fabless customer and ODMs. We still see a year to move from sampling to design-in but if successful timed to meet expected market acceleration in 2028-29.

Q: Will there be further technology upgrades driving the lens cycle in the coming years?

We expect spec upgrades for Largan's core lens business to come in H226 from variable aperture shipments for the iPhone 18 (which Genius does not currently participate though may enter over time, as seen with periscope lenses). Key offset though is weaker sales with Q3 tracking light and suggesting a softer build due to memory headwinds. Further upside could come from broader adoption of 48MP modules in future iPhone models. Looking longer term, Apple is reportedly exploring 200MP periscope lens and adjacent opportunities to penetrate physical AI categories with precision lens including robotics, autonomous systems and AR/VR devices.

UBS VIEW

We downgrade our rating on Largan from Buy to Sell as we view the market expectations as now pricing in a bullish scenario for strong market traction with the company still at an early stage of qualification, still needing to improve its process and yields, and competing in a crowded space also against an existing incumbent. We expect several quarters to improve current low yields, gain acceptance from solution integrators (Corning, Senko, AuthenX) and secure design-ins by the AI GPU fabless company and its ODM partners against incumbent TFC and other rivals. We downgrade Largan from Buy to Sell with CPO still at an early stage and the stock now 35x 2027 vs. LT 13-18x range and well above our sum-of-the-parts NT$5,000 price target based on 15x smartphone lens + 50x CPO base case for 40% share (upper-end of optical peer range of 14-72x).

EVIDENCE

Largan has demonstrated its samples with partners at Computex and Semicon Taiwan and cited its goals to ramp CPO as its next opportunity. The company is still early in qualifications with a sample automated line in the coming months followed by design-in engagement with system integrators, ODMs and the fabless customer to target design-in on 3rd gen CPO solutions in 2028. For smartphone lens, its top customer had a strong iPhone 17 cycle although acknowledged it would have to raise price to pass on higher memory costs which could dampen growth. Sales QTD are tracking slightly light as Largan also competes with 2nd source Genius. Our supply chain checks and management commentary points to introduction of higher value variable aperture lens in H226.

WHAT'S PRICED IN

Largan is currently trading above the high end of its historical range at 39x/35x our 2026E/27E EPS vs. a long-term range of 13-18x forward consensus earning, pricing in success penetrating the CPO component market ahead of the earnings stream which would only start late in 2027 into 2028. We note optical component peers trade at 14-72x with an average of ~38x 2027E P/E (Genius at 25x 2027 P/E). We maintain our SOTP valuation with our price target at NT$5000 based on 1) 15x smartphone lens (NT$3,270) + 2) 50x CPO base case EPS of NT$35 for NT$1,730 (40% share, 100k switches/7.2mn FAUs, US$150/FAU, US$1.1bn TAM), high-end of peers due to its premium ~40-45% OpM. We view the stock at NT$7,400 now pricing in CPO traction on a 50x multiple of our upside NT$76 case based on 60% share of an upside US$1.6bn opportunity.

COMMENTARY

Largan shares have risen 242% since 1 April on optimism around its CPO fiber array unit (FAU) progress. While we stay constructive post our feedback at Semicon Taiwan on Largan's ability to develop CPO solutions, we now believe the market is pricing in a level of confidence that has run well ahead of qualification progress which is still early and competing in a crowded field. Largan will only start its sample line in late Q3 integrating its Prism Micro Lens Array and Fiber Array, AOET's V-groove and Corning's glass fiber. From there, we expect several quarters to improve current low yields, gain acceptance from solution integrators (Corning, Senko, AuthenX) and secure design-ins by the AI GPU fabless company and its ODM partners against incumbent TFC and rivals including Coherent with own lens/FAU. The company did note on its Q226 call that it had secured one mass production commitment for its fiber array to an FAU maker that could ramp by H227 although early to conclude the magnitude of this engagement or end customer design-in, with the other customers still at proof-of-concept phase.

We downgrade our rating on Largan from Buy to Sell with CPO still at an early stage and the stock now 35x 2027 vs. LT 13-18x range and well above our sum-of-the-parts NT $5,000 price target based on 15x smartphone lens + 50x CPO base case for 40% share (upper-end of optical component peers trading at a range of 14-72x).

Still a range of outcomes for CPO solution traction

Largan's approach pairs V-groove with PMLA to shape the optical light from the PIC into the fiber at high accuracy with automated assembly. Feedback is positive on Largan's precision and track record for volume production/yield improvement (now still low). A risk is Largan targeting the Gen 3 optics should take until 2028 and also competes with incumbent TFC which is already designed-in for 2026-27 and other FAU vendors like Coherent that can vertically integrate or use meta lens not requiring Largan's initial V-groove approach. Largan's business model may also conflict with integration partners as it also attempts to build toward a complete solution.

We estimate Largan's Total Addressable Market in a downside case is US$270mn if it only supplies sub-components into a market that continues to push out CPO due to reliability concerns relative to pluggables and NPO/XPO options, US$1.08bn in a base case with 100k switches and 72 FAUs per switch at US$150 ASP, and US$1.6bn in an upside case with 125k switches, 72 FAUs per switch and US$175 ASP. For Largan, we estimate downside case 10% share yields NT$810mn sales and NT$2.20 EPS, base case 40% share, NT$13.0bn sales and NT$35 EPS, and upside case 60% share, NT$28.4bn sales and NT$76 EPS.

Although we are optimistic on the market opportunity scaling up and Largan's competencies and progress developing these solutions, Largan's traction is not yet certain and it will compete in a crowded landscape. We believe Himax is already supplying wafer level optics for the collimator function with FOCI (3363.TWO) and TFC (300394.SZ) already has demonstrated capability and design-in on the FAU and lens assembly. Others that could vertically integrate include Coherent, Senko, Corning and Sumitomo, and we also note Genius sending samples and Sunny Optical's intention to develop for this market.

Our feedback at Semicon Taiwan indicates Coherent can make the FAU and lens by itself through capabilities merging with II-VI and demonstrated all in-house components at the booth except for the metal transceiver casing.

Smartphone lens business tracking behind, should have a mild 2026-27

Largan reported August sales at NT$5bn, is below seasonal 63-67% at only 53% of Q326 UBSe/Street +36-38% QoQ and down 16% YoY, suggesting muted momentum into its flagship customer (~80% of sales). July EPS was NT$13.94, 27% of UBSe Q3 NT $51.52 suggesting in-line GM/OpM at ~50%/39% but the lighter sales are more of a concern.

UBS expects flattish builds at best and a mild spec upgrade with one model variable aperture but foldable at similar lens spec and higher memory cost (+US$200-300 YoY). We still see mild growth and mid-teens multiple acceptable for the smartphone business, similar to its long-term average.

UPSIDE/DOWNSIDE SPECTRUM

Largan (3008.TW) trading at 7,400 at closed Sept 4.

UPSIDE (NT$9,000): Our upside valuation of NT$3,655 is based on its average P/E of 16x off our 2027 upside case EPS of NT$235. We factor in faster than expected CPO progress to deliver upside EPS of NT$76 and 70x P/E at the high end of optical peers trading at 14-72x 2027E P/E to an implied valuation of NT$5,345, and total share price at NT$9,000.

BASE (NT$5,000): Our price target for its smartphone business is NT$3,270, with a 15x 2027 P/E applied on its base case EPS of NT$214 slightly below the long-term average of its historical P/E band to reflect the macro uncertainty. Paired with our base scenario of its CPO business at NT$35 EPS and 50x P/E, we arrive at an implied valuation of NT$1,730, and Largan's aggregate PT at NT$5,000.

DOWNSIDE (NT$2,500): Downside valuation at NT$2,392, based on low-end of its range 13x 2027 P/E. We take into consideration slower adoption of FAUs at its downside EPS of NT$2 and the same 50x P/E to an implied valuation of NT$108 for CPO contribution, and Largan's total share price at NT$2,500.

Company Description

Founded in 1987, Largan Precision (Largan) is one of the world's leading manufacturers of lenses used in cameras and IT products. It specialises in plastic/hybrid lenses and, to a lesser extent, glass lenses and modules. In 2022, 20MP+ camera lenses were 10-20% of Largan's shipment mix, 10MP lenses were 50-60%, 8MP lenses were 0-10% and other lenses were 30-40%.

Valuation Method and Risk Statement

Our price target is based on SOTP valuation on the CPO opportunity and traditional lens business.

We think Largan's downside risks include: 1) ongoing pricing pressure from smartphone OEM clients and increasingly intense competition among lens suppliers; and 2) a slower-than-expected smartphone demand recovery in China, and 3) CPO commercial success below the market's elevated expectations.

We believe the key upside risk is a faster-than-expected CPO qualification process at Largan. In addition, if the company demonstrates exceptionally efficient and highly accurate automation capabilities, it could support greater market share gains within the industry than we currently anticipate.

Quantitative Research Review

UBS Global Research publishes a quantitative assessment of its analysts' responses to certain questions about the likelihood of an occurrence of a number of short term factors in a product known as the 'Quantitative Research Review'. The views for this month can be found below. Views contained in this assessment on a particular stock reflect only the views on those short term factors which are a different timeframe to the 12-month timeframe reflected in any equity rating set out in this note. For previous responses please make reference to (i) previous UBS Global Research reports; and (ii) where no applicable research report was published that month, the Quantitative Research Review which can be found at <https://neo.ubs.com/quantitative>, or contact your UBS sales representative for access to the report or the Quantitative Research Team on ubs-quant-answers@ubs.com. A consolidated report which contains all responses is also available and again you should contact your UBS sales representative for details and pricing or the Quantitative Research Team on the email above.

Question	Response
1. Is the industry structure facing the firm likely to improve or deteriorate over the next six months? Rate on a scale of 1-5 (1 = getting worse, 3 = no change, 5 = getting better, N/A = no view)	3
2. Is the regulatory/government environment facing the firm likely to improve or deteriorate over the next six months? Rate on a scale of 1-5 (1 = getting tougher, 3 = no change, 5 = getting better, N/A = no view)	3
3. Over the last 3-6 months in broad terms have things been improving/no change/getting worse for this stock? Rate on a scale of 1-5 (1 = getting a lot worse, 3 = not much change, 5 = getting a lot better, N/A = no view)	5
4. Relative to the current CONSENSUS EPS forecast, is the next company EPS update likely to lead to: (1 = negative surprise vs consensus, 3 = in-line with consensus, 5 = positive surprise vs consensus expectations, N/A = no view)	2
5. What's driving the difference?	We expect downside to consensus in 2026 due to slower smartphone sales through August. We indicate things getting better for the stock in the past 3-6 months on the smartphone traction.
6. Relative to YOUR current earnings forecast, is there relatively greater risk at the next earnings result of: (1 = downside skew risk to earnings, 3 = equal upside or downside risk to earnings, 5 = upside skew risk to earnings, N/A = no view)	5
7. What's driving the difference?
8. Is there an upcoming catalyst for the company over the next three months?
9. Is there an actual or approximate date for the catalyst?
10. Is the catalyst date an actual or approximate date?
11. What is the catalyst?

UBS Global Research: Global Equity Rating Definitions

12-Month Rating	Definition	Coverage ¹	IB Services ²
Buy	FSR is > 6% above the MRA.	55%	24%
Neutral	FSR is between -6% and 6% of the MRA.	40%	21%
Sell	FSR is > 6% below the MRA.	6%	21%

Source: UBS. Rating allocations are as of 30 June 2026.

1:Percentage of companies under coverage globally within the 12-month rating category.

2:Percentage of companies within the 12-month rating category for which investment banking (IB) services were provided within the past 12 months.

KEY DEFINITIONS:Forecast Stock Return (FSR) is defined as expected percentage price appreciation plus gross dividend yield over the next 12 months. In some cases, this yield may be based on accrued dividends. Market Return Assumption (MRA) is defined as the one-year local market interest rate plus 5% (a proxy for, and not a forecast of, the equity risk premium). Under Review (UR) Stocks may be flagged as UR by the analyst, indicating that the stock's price target and/or rating are subject to possible change in the near term, usually in response to an event that may affect the investment case or valuation. Equity Price Targets have an investment horizon of 12 months.

EXCEPTIONS AND SPECIAL CASES:UK and European Investment Fund ratings and definitions are: Buy: Positive on factors such as structure, management, performance record, discount; Neutral: Neutral on factors such as structure, management, performance record, discount; Sell: Negative on factors such as structure, management, performance record, discount. Core Banding Exceptions (CBE): Exceptions to the standard +/-6% bands may be granted by the Investment Review Consultation (IRC). Factors considered by the IRC include the stock's volatility and the credit spread of the respective company's debt. As a result, stocks deemed to be very high or low risk may be subject to higher or lower bands as they relate to the rating. When such exceptions apply, they will be identified in the Company Disclosures table in the relevant research piece.

This document is a general communication and is educational in nature; it is not an advertisement nor is it a solicitation or an offer to buy or sell any financial instruments or to participate in any particular trading strategy. Nothing in this document constitutes a representation that any investment strategy or recommendation is suitable or appropriate to an investor's individual circumstances or otherwise constitutes a personal recommendation. By providing this document, none of UBS or its representatives has any responsibility or authority to provide or have provided investment advice in a fiduciary capacity or otherwise. Investments involve risks, and investors should exercise prudence and their own judgment in making their investment decisions. None of UBS or its representatives is suggesting that the recipient or any other person take a specific course of action or any action at all. The recipient should carefully read this document in its entirety and not draw inferences or conclusions from the rating alone. By receiving this document, the recipient acknowledges and agrees with the intended purpose described above and further disclaims any expectation or belief that the information constitutes investment advice to the recipient or otherwise purports to meet the investment objectives of the recipient. The financial instruments described in the document may not be eligible for sale in all jurisdictions or to certain categories of investors.

Options, structured derivative products and futures (including OTC derivatives) are not suitable for all investors. Trading in these instruments is considered risky and may be appropriate only for sophisticated investors. Prior to buying or selling an option, and for the complete risks relating to options, you must receive a copy of "The Characteristics and Risks of Standardized Options." You may read the document at <https://www.theocc.com/publications/risks/riskchap1.jsp> or ask your salesperson for a copy. Various theoretical explanations of the risks associated with these instruments have been published. Supporting documentation for any claims, comparisons, recommendations, statistics or other technical data will be supplied upon request. Past performance is not necessarily indicative of future results. Transaction costs may be significant in option strategies calling for multiple purchases and sales of options, such as spreads and straddles. Because of the importance of tax considerations to many options transactions, the investor considering options should consult with his/her tax advisor as to how taxes affect the outcome of contemplated options transactions.

Mortgage and asset-backed securities may involve a high degree of risk and may be highly volatile in response to fluctuations in interest rates or other market conditions. Foreign currency rates of exchange may adversely affect the value, price or income of any security or related instrument referred to in the document. For investment advice, trade execution or other enquiries, clients should contact their local sales representative.

UBS notes that no globally accepted framework or definition (legal, regulatory or otherwise) currently exists, nor is there a market consensus as to what constitutes an "ESG" (Environmental, Social or Governance) or an equivalent-label, or as to what precise attributes are required for the Information (as defined below) to be defined as ESG or equivalently-labelled. Any information, data or other content including from a third party source contained, referred to herein or used for whatsoever purpose by UBS or a third party ("Information"), in relation to any actual or potential ESG objective, issue or consideration is not intended to be relied upon for ESG classification, regulatory regime or industry initiative purposes ("ESG Regimes"). Nothing in these materials is intended to convey, suggest or indicate that UBS considers or represents any product, service, person or body mentioned in these materials as meeting or qualifying for any ESG classification, labelling or similar standards that may exist under the ESG Regimes. UBS has not conducted any assessment of compliance with ESG Regimes. Parties are reminded to make their own assessments for these purposes.

Prior to making any investment or financial decisions, any recipient of this document or the information should take steps to understand the risk and return of the investment and seek individualized advice from his or her personal financial, legal, tax and other professional advisors that takes into account all the particular facts and circumstances of his or her investment objectives.

Any prices stated in this document are for information purposes only and do not represent valuations for individual securities or other financial instruments. There is no representation that any transaction can or could have been effected at those prices, and any prices do not necessarily reflect UBS's internal books and records or theoretical model-based valuations and may be based on certain assumptions. Different assumptions by UBS or any other source may yield substantially different results.

No representation or warranty, either expressed or implied, is provided in relation to the accuracy, completeness or reliability of the information contained in any materials to which this document relates (the "Information"), except with respect to Information concerning UBS. The Information is not intended to be a complete statement or summary of the securities, markets or developments referred to in the document. UBS does not undertake to update or keep current the Information. Any statements contained in this report attributed to a third party represent UBS's interpretation of the data, information and/or opinions provided by that third party either publicly or through a subscription service, and such use and interpretation have not been reviewed by the third party. In no circumstances may this document or any of the Information (including any forecast, value, index or other calculated amount ("Values")) be used for any of the following purposes:

- (i) valuation or accounting purposes;
- (ii) to determine the amounts due or payable, the price or the value of any financial instrument or financial contract; or
- (iii) to measure the performance of any financial instrument including, without limitation, for the purpose of tracking the return or performance of any Value or of defining the asset allocation of portfolio or of computing performance fees.

By receiving this document and the Information you will be deemed to represent and warrant to UBS that you will not use this document or any of the Information for any of the above purposes or otherwise rely upon this document or any of the Information.

UBS has policies and procedures, which include, without limitation, independence policies and permanent information barriers, that are intended, and upon which UBS relies, to manage potential conflicts of interest and control the flow of information within divisions of UBS and among its subsidiaries, branches and affiliates. UBS does and seeks to do business with companies covered in its research reports. As a result, investors should be aware that the firm may have a conflict of interest that could affect the objectivity of this report. Investors should consider this report as only a single factor in making their investment decision. For further information on the ways in which UBS Global Research manages conflicts and maintains independence of its research products, historical performance information and certain additional disclosures concerning UBS Global Research recommendations, please visit <https://www.ubs.com/disclosures>.

UBS Global Research will initiate, update and cease coverage solely at the discretion of UBS Global Research Management, which will also have sole discretion on the timing and frequency of any published research product. The analysis contained in this document is based on numerous assumptions. All material information in relation to published research reports, such as valuation methodology, risk statements, underlying assumptions (including sensitivity analysis of those assumptions), ratings history etc. as required by the Market Abuse Regulation, can be found on UBS Neo. Different assumptions could result in materially different results.

UBS Global Research may utilise artificial intelligence tools ("AI Tools") in the preparation of this document. Notwithstanding any such use of AI Tools, this document has undergone human review.

The analyst(s) responsible for the preparation of this document may interact with trading desk personnel, sales personnel and other parties for the purpose of gathering, applying and interpreting market information. UBS relies on information barriers to control the flow of information contained in one or more areas within UBS into other areas, units, groups or affiliates of UBS. The compensation of the analyst who prepared this document is determined exclusively by UBS Global Research management and senior management (not including investment banking). Analyst compensation is not based on investment banking revenues; however, compensation may relate to the revenues of UBS and/or its divisions as a whole, of which investment banking, sales and trading are a part, and UBS as a whole.

For financial instruments admitted to trading on an EU regulated market: UBS (excluding UBS Securities LLC) acts as a market maker or liquidity provider (in accordance with the interpretation of these terms under English law or, if not carried out by UBS in the UK the law of the relevant jurisdiction in which UBS determines it carries out the activity) in the financial instruments of the issuer save that where the activity of liquidity provider is carried out in accordance with the definition given to it by the laws and regulations of any other EU jurisdictions, such information is separately disclosed in this document. For financial instruments admitted to trading on a non-EU regulated market: UBS may act as a market maker save that where this activity is carried out in the US in accordance with the definition given to it by the relevant laws and regulations, such activity will be specifically disclosed in this document. UBS may have issued a warrant the value of which is based on one or more of the financial instruments referred to in the document. UBS and its affiliates and employees may have long or short positions, trade as principal and buy and sell in instruments or derivatives identified herein; such transactions or positions may be inconsistent with the opinions expressed in this document.

Within the past 12 months UBS may have received or provided investment services and activities or ancillary services as per MiFID II which may have given rise to a payment or promise of a payment in relation to these services from or to this company.

Please note that all transactions conducted by UBS are consistent with sanctions regulations imposed by Switzerland, the European Union, the United Nations, the United Kingdom and the United States, per UBS' global sanctions policy. UBS opinion as to future investment worthiness assumes no new sanctions are imposed.

US persons are prohibited from purchasing or selling securities of certain companies designated as being associated with the Chinese Military in accordance with the amended US Presidential Executive Order 13959.

Options and futures are not suitable for all investors, and trading in these instruments is considered risky and may be appropriate only for sophisticated investors. Prior to buying or selling an option, and for the complete risks relating to options, you must receive a copy of "Characteristics and Risks of Standardized Options". You may read the document at <https://www.theocc.com/about/publications/character-risks.jsp> or ask your financial advisor for a copy.

Investing in structured investments involves significant risks. For a detailed discussion of the risks involved in investing in any particular structured investment, you must read the relevant offering materials for that investment. Structured investments are unsecured obligations of a particular issuer with returns linked to the performance of an underlying asset. Depending on the terms of the investment, investors could lose all or a substantial portion of their investment based on the performance of the underlying asset. Investors could also lose their entire investment if the issuer becomes insolvent. UBS does not guarantee in any way the obligations or the financial condition of any issuer or the accuracy of any financial information provided by any issuer. Structured investments are not traditional investments and investing in a structured investment is not equivalent to investing directly in the underlying asset. Structured investments may have limited or no liquidity, and investors should be prepared to hold their investment to maturity. The return of structured investments may be limited by a maximum gain, participation rate or other feature. Structured investments may include call features and, if a structured investment is called early, investors would not earn any further return and may not be able to reinvest in similar investments with similar terms. Structured investments include costs and fees which are generally embedded in the price of the investment. The tax treatment of a structured investment may be complex and may differ from a direct investment in the underlying asset. UBS and its employees do not provide tax advice. Investors should consult their own tax advisor about their own tax situation before investing in any securities.

Important Information About Sustainable Investing Strategies: Sustainable investing strategies aim to consider and incorporate environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors into investment process and portfolio construction. Strategies across geographies approach ESG analysis and incorporate the findings in a variety of ways. Incorporating ESG factors or sustainable investing considerations may inhibit the portfolio manager's ability to participate in certain investment opportunities that otherwise would be consistent with its investment objective and other principal investment strategies. The returns on a portfolio incorporating ESG factors or sustainable investing considerations may be lower or higher than portfolios where ESG factors, exclusions, or other sustainability issues are not considered by the portfolio manager, and the investment opportunities available to such portfolios may differ.

Within the past 12 months UBS Switzerland AG, its affiliates or subsidiaries may have received or provided investment services and activities or ancillary services as per MiFID II which may have given rise to a payment or promise of a payment in relation to these services from or to this company.
