Alchip Technologies

Growth acceleration under way

Key Points

- Alchip's 3nm AI ASIC project ramped in 2Q26 and has driven strong HoH and YoY growth from 2H26.
- We believe the 3nm AI ASIC ramp-up and next-generation tape-out in late-2026 are key catalysts for Alchip shares.
- While we do not forecast additional CSP projects, the company is "highly confident" it can secure another major CSP customer.

Expect 100%+ sales CAGR in 2026/27

- We believe share-price upside could be driven by: 1) the successful ramp of its key customer's 3nm AI ASIC (shipments from June), 2) success in winning the key customer's next-generation projects (tape out in late-2026), and 3) other key projects, including networking-related projects that could help drive 2027 and beyond sales growth, along with multiple ADAS projects (the first major project ramped up in 1Q26).
- We maintain our positive long-term view on ASIC industry growth, driven by the continued outsourcing of IC design services to Asia, supported by a large talent pool and lower costs, and by Alchip's strong competitive position and track record. We are not concerned about Alchip's key customer's agreements with other semiconductor peers. We believe these agreements highlight the large, growing TAM for the customer's AI ASIC and related ecosystem. We also note that Alchip's largest customer has invested in Alchip stock twice.
- Company remains bullish through at least 2029: During its 2Q26 analyst meeting in August, the company reiterated that sales should be "at least in line with AI ASIC industry growth through 2029." The company also expressed confidence in 3nm AI ASIC sales from June 2026 and in the successful tape-out of its next-generation AI ASIC project before year-end.

Earnings changes: We raise our 2026E/2027E/2028E EPS rep by 9%/27%/20% to reflect the higher scale of AI ASIC projects.

Valuation: We raise our target price 4% to NT$6,784, based on a 26x 2028E PER, from NT$6,542, based on a 30x 2028E PER. Our new multiple is back in line with the historical average and to reflect high customer concentration.

Catalysts: Sustained revenue growth from June; successful tape-out of a next-generation project in 2H26.

Investment Thesis and Recommendation

As a key AI beneficiary with a strong track record of successful leading-edge project ramps, we continue to believe in Alchip's long-term growth outlook and remain positive on AI ASIC industry growth. Link to prior Alchip research.

Key Risks to Investment Thesis

- Project ramp-up delays or failure to reach mass production, resulting in lower-than-expected scale.
- Order reductions from key customers, including potential impacts from US semiconductor regulations, leading to sales or earnings misses.
- Failure to secure key customers' next-generation projects.

Company Description

Alchip is a IC design service companies that assists IC design and system companies to complete chip designs. Their revenues come in two main streams: 1) NRE (non-recurring engineering) which is the service provided starting with the back-end design of the semiconductor to tape out at foundry. 2) Turnkey occurs when Alchip assists customers in placing wafer orders to foundries (TSMC) and delivering final wafers to customers.

Key Quant Findings

The quant model currently holds a reasonably negative view on Alchip Technologies. The strongest style exposure is Quality, indicating this stock is likely to have a superior and more stable underlying earnings stream. The weakest style exposure is Price Momentum, indicating this stock has had weak medium to long term returns which often persist into the future.

Macquarie Alpha Model: Key rankings

The Macquarie Quant’s flagship Alpha model is a dynamic multi-factor model based on a staple of quant factors such as value, momentum, revisions, quality, and risk.
