1Q Preview: AI beneficiary thesis to remain unbroken

Maintain Rating: BUY | PO: 170.00 USD | Price: 133.98 USD

Set to report 1Q26 results on May 7th before the open

We expect nothing in the upcoming earnings report to change our view that Datadog is an AI beneficiary operating in a growing observability TAM. We think demand continues to be robust based on recent checks, and above consensus results from the hyperscalers (Microsoft Azure, Amazon AWS, Google GCP on Wed 4/29) with the theme of “more demand vs capacity,” is leading us to think Datadog could deliver upside to BofA/Street forecasts at $956mn/$958mn and +25.5%/+25.8% y/y. Maintain Buy. $170 PO implies 27% upside, based on 12.2x EV/CY27E revenue, or 0.8x growth adjusted, premium to infrastructure peers at 4.0x/0.3x, for its growth potential and category leadership.

Key metric: Strong core growth (ex-AI natives) necessary

In 4Q25, core growth was +23% y/y, accelerating three points from +20% in 3Q25. We estimate growth accelerated for at least three quarters in a row (2Q25-4Q25) and think there is good potential for it to continue accelerating as enterprises use more cloud services and get more AI experiences live. We think accelerating growth is the bare minimum. But, with overall software sentiment shaky at best, we do not think a similar magnitude of acceleration to last quarter is necessary to be a catalyst for the stock.

Potential catalyst: Unexpected mega deals

One of the biggest surprises last quarter was the announcement of an eight-figure annualized deal with an AI model maker, and other eight and seven figure expansion deals. We think more big-deal commentary is expected. What would be unexpected is if another large AI model maker or a new very large technology vendor deal that doesn't fit the typical Datadog customer profile is announced. We think this would be a catalyst.

Key risk: Beat magnitude meaningfully compresses

With investor sentiment on Datadog being relatively more positive versus other infrastructure software peers and DDOG carrying a premium valuation multiple, we think the magnitude of the beat matters more this quarter than in the past. Over the last two quarters, Datadog beat the midpoint of the guide by 4.3%. If this metric meaningfully compresses (i.e., <3%) it could put into question what the ultimate upside potential for revenue and revenue growth could be for 2026, which could be a negative catalyst.

Company Sector

Company Description

Datadog is an observability software vendor that enables its customers to have strong visibility into the health and performance of its technology stacks to drive high quality end-user experiences. Datadog is able to achieve this with its portfolio of 24+ products that spans infrastructure monitoring, APM, log analytics, cloud security, among many others.

Investment Rationale

Datadog is positioned to be a share gainer in a large $53bn observability TAM. This is because it delivers enterprise-class observability tools with a low-friction adoption motion that drives fast time to value and good ROI. Furthermore, we believe enterprises will increasingly standardize its observability and security workloads to a single vendor, to which Datadog appears positioned to take share. With AI workloads beginning to pick up, we believe Datadog will be a beneficiary in the AI theme.

AWS results increase our confidence in upside potential

Amazon AWS is a popular hyperscaler used by many Datadog customers. We track and compare Datadog and AWS revenue growth, net-new revenue take rate, and the Datadog to AWS revenue growth ratio to help gauge what Datadog's revenue performance could be.

Datadog/AWS multiplier would compress a lot if only our forecast was achieved

For 1Q26, Amazon AWS generated $37.6bn in revenue and grew 28% y/y. Using these results implies the Datadog to AWS growth multiplier (Datadog revenue growth / AWS revenue growth) would need to compress to 0.9x from 1.2x last quarter to achieve our 1Q26 total revenue estimate of $956mn. This multiplier would also be the lowest multiplier on record.

Net-new revenue take rate would be almost insignificant too

Another way we look at the read-through from AWS to Datadog is how much net-new Datadog revenue is generated from net-new AWS revenue. To achieve our 1Q26 total revenue forecast, the net-new revenue take rate on net-new AWS revenue would be 0.1% versus 3.8% in 4Q25. Tiny. This is another reason that is giving us confidence Datadog could potentially beat our Street estimates.

Similar beat implies revenue growth accelerates in 1Q26

Over the past three quarters, Datadog beat the midpoint of its total revenue guidance by 4.3% in 4Q25, 4.3% in 3Q25, and 4.8% in 2Q25. In exhibit 4 below, we present a scenario analysis of what implied revenue would be based on three beat magnitudes to the midpoint of the guide. If the beat magnitude is the same as the last two quarters (i.e., 4.3%) this would imply total revenue of $997.1mn or 30.9% y/y growth, which would be an acceleration from the 29.2% delivered in 4Q25. If the beat magnitude is 3.0%, a level not seen since 1Q25, the implied total revenue is $984.7mn, or 29.3% y/y, which would still be a 10 basis point growth acceleration from 4Q25. This analysis is another reason why we have confidence Datadog can meet/exceed revenue estimates in 1Q26.

Exhibit 4: Delivering a similar magnitude beat as last quarter implies total revenue growth could accelerate again in 1Q26

Wide 1Q26 guidance range is interesting

The 1Q26 revenue guidance of $951-961mn has a $10mn range between the high point and low point. This is the highest range for 1Q quarterly revenue guidance issued by Datadog ever. The second highest 1Q revenue guidance range was $5mn, given in 1Q22, a period of time where Datadog was experiencing elevated optimizations.

Typically, the quarterly range is $4mn, so the 1Q26 range stands out. To be frank, we do not know why the range is so wide this time. It will be interesting to see if this trend continues, or if it was just a one off and is not meaningful. We are keeping a close eye on this.

Non-AI-native rev growth is key metric

In 4Q25, core growth was +23% y/y, accelerating three points from +20% in 3Q25. We estimate growth accelerated for at least three quarters in a row (2Q25-4Q25) and think there is good potential for it to continue accelerating as enterprises use more cloud services and get more AI experiences live. Web traffic data suggest forward trends improving

Positive trend: March Datadog traffic up 4% y/y, engaged visits up 18% y/y

Below, we track total webpage visits and engaged visits for Datadog (app.datadoghq.com using Similarweb data). Directionally, we believe growth in these metrics are directionally helpful to gauge Datadog revenue growth potential. March 2026 total page views for Datadog were 95mn, up 4.3% y/y and 17.5% m/m. Engaged visits of 2.6mn in March increased 17.7% y/y and 17.6% m/m. Total page view growth and engaged visit growth accelerated y/y growth in March, another data point supportive of our bullish view into the 1Q26 print.

Metrics definitions and calculations

- “Total page view” is defined as the average number of page views across all pages within a site over a given period, which in our analysis is a month
- “Engaged visit” is a calculated metric defined as visits * (1-bounce rate), where bounce rate is defined as the percentage of visitors who enter a site and leave after visiting only one page

DDOG Short interest up less than group

DDOG short interest is up 37% year-to-date potentially reflecting more bearish investor sentiment on DDOG and the broader software category. On balance, the median infrastructure software peer group short interest is up 44% YTD, signaling pessimism on DDOG has increased less than peers.

BofA GLOBAL RESEARCH

Price objective basis & risk

Datadog Inc (DDOG)

Our $170 PO is based on an EV/revenue multiple of 12.2x EV/CY27E revenue. This is a premium compared to its infrastructure software peers at 4.0x, which we think is justified given its revenue growth and free cash flow upside potential and category leadership.

Downside risks to our PO: 1) valuation risk, 2) competition, 3) deteriorating net revenue retention, 4) execution, and 5) enterprise software spend can be cyclical.

Coverage Universe	Count	Percent	Inv. Banking Relationships ^{R1}	Count	Percent
Buy	1993	55.76%	Buy	1186	59.51%
Hold	821	22.97%	Hold	509	62.00%
Sell	760	21.26%	Sell	400	52.63%

^{R1} Issuers that were investment banking clients of BofA Securities or one of its affiliates within the past 12 months. For purposes of this Investment Rating Distribution, the coverage universe includes only stocks. A stock rated Neutral is included as a Hold, and a stock rated Underperform is included as a Sell.

FUNDAMENTAL EQUITY OPINION KEY: Opinions include a Volatility Risk Rating, an Investment Rating and an Income Rating. VOLATILITY RISK RATINGS, indicators of potential price fluctuation, are: A - Low, B - Medium and C - High. INVESTMENT RATINGS reflect the analyst's assessment of both a stock's absolute total return potential as well as its attractiveness for investment relative to other stocks within its Coverage Cluster (defined below). Our investment ratings are: 1 - Buy stocks are expected to have a total return of at least 10% and are the most attractive stocks in the coverage cluster; 2 - Neutral stocks are expected to remain flat or increase in value and are less attractive than Buy rated stocks and 3 - Underperform stocks are the least attractive stocks in a coverage cluster. An investment rating of 6 (No Rating) indicates that a stock is no longer trading on the basis of fundamentals. Analysts assign investment ratings considering, among other things, the 0-12 month total return expectation for a stock and the firm's guidelines for ratings dispersions (shown in the table below). The current price objective for a stock should be referenced to better understand the total return expectation at any given time. The price objective reflects the analyst's view of the potential price appreciation (depreciation).

Investment rating	Total return expectation (within 12-month period of date of initial rating)	Ratings dispersion guidelines for coverage cluster ^{R2}
Buy	≥ 10%	≤ 70%
Neutral	≥ 0%	≤ 30%
Underperform	N/A	≥ 20%

^{R2} Ratings dispersions may vary from time to time where BofA Global Research believes it better reflects the investment prospects of stocks in a Coverage Cluster.

INCOME RATINGS, indicators of potential cash dividends, are: 7 - same/higher (dividend considered to be secure), 8 - same/lower (dividend not considered to be secure) and 9 - pays no cash dividend. Coverage Cluster is comprised of stocks covered by a single analyst or two or more analysts sharing a common industry, sector, region or other classification(s). A stock's coverage cluster is included in the most recent BofA Global Research report referencing the stock.

Subject to the quiet period applicable under laws of the various jurisdictions in which we distribute research reports and other legal and BoFA Securities policy-related restrictions on the publication of research reports, fundamental equity reports are produced on a regular basis as necessary to keep the investment recommendation current.

Certain outstanding reports or investment opinions relating to securities, financial instruments and/or issuers may no longer be current. Always refer to the most recent research report relating to an issuer prior to making an investment decision.

In some cases, an issuer may be classified as Restricted or may be Under Review or Extended Review. In each case, investors should consider any investment opinion relating to such issuer (or its security and/or financial instruments) to be suspended or withdrawn and should not rely on the analyses and investment opinion(s) pertaining to such issuer (or its securities and/or financial instruments) nor should the analyses or opinion(s) be considered a solicitation of any kind. Sales persons and financial advisors affiliated with BoFA or any of its affiliates may not solicit purchases of securities or financial instruments that are Restricted or Under Review and may only solicit securities under Extended Review in accordance with firm policies.
