

Nan Ya Plastics Corp

April revenue reached another 40+ month high. 2Q OPM expansion on track as price hike feeds through. Remain OW

NPC's April electronic material sales came in in-line with JPMe on a normalized basis (+4% m/m), although the headline number (flattish m/m) might have seemed weaker than peers due to the epoxy resin run cut due to feedstock constraints. The company's consolidated revenue reached a 45-month high on higher chemical prices and UTR ramp at the Texas MEG plant. We remain optimistic on further company OPM expansion into 2Q, with a full quarter contribution from the 16 Mar CCL price hike and ramp-up of specialty-grade electronic material volumes. NPC has been a laggard among broader electronic materials peers over the past month (Table 2) as the company's entry into specialty grade products remains relatively under the radar. We continue to forecast NP growing by >10x in FY26 (NT$50bn vs FY25 at NT$4.5bn). Remain OW.

- NPC April revenue another 40+ month high; electronic materials+3.7% m/m ex. epoxy run cut impact. NPC's April electronic material segment revenue came in flattish m/m, as the positive pricing contribution (+NT$0.53bn) was largely offset by volume impact (-NT$0.5bn) from the epoxy run cut due to feedstock shortage. On an ex.volume basis, April segment revenue grew 4% m/m, in-line with JPMe and NYPCB print (Figure 2). NPC's consolidated revenue rose to a 45-month high of NT$27.7bn (+1.9% m/m, +19.4% y/y), as the company cited dual tailwinds(pricing+volume) from Texas MEG's full UTR and BPA price hike. Management noted on our recent group call that the PVC/Plastic division's 1Q26 OPM improved to almost double digit %, vs 9% in 4Q25, and we expect the margin recovery to continue as competitors continue to face constraints on PVC feedstock.
- CCL peers all reported record high revenue in April. Taiwan CCL names rallied 4.3% yesterday (EMC: 4.7%, ITEQ: 0.4%, TUC: 7.8% vs Taiex: +0.9%) as the trio printed record high single month sales, following broad-based price hike announcements across high-end products earlier last month (Table 1). TUC led in growth momentum with a 21.9% m/m gain in revenue, followed by EMC +15.9% and ITEQ +4.3%. As we wrote on 20 Apr, CCL industry supply tightness has intensified into 2Q – as evidenced by both the magnitude and breadth of price hike announcements (10-40% price hikes across both commodity/specialty grade products). We remain optimistic on further margin expansion for NPC's CCL segment ahead, as the capacity shift towards specialty/AI continues to cannibalize conventional grade capacity.

- NYT April sales +40% m/m; local media reported Nvidia supply chain entry. Local media reported on 26 Apr that NYT has become the first Taiwanese supplier of LPDDR5X memory to Nvidia's Vera Rubin platform, mirroring the 27% share price rally to date (vs Taiex +6%). NYT's April sales of NT$25.5bn (40% m/m, 8.2x y/y) marked another record high, as the company cited 2Q DRAM ASP to see another "double-digit growth" (JPMe: 32%) on top of the 70% q/q growth in 1Q. Our current FY26 NP forecast bakes in NT$118bn of NYT earnings vs consensus at NT$133bn. On NPC 28.3% NYT stake post trim, every 10bn increase in NYT earnings translates to a 2.8bn gain in NPC's PBT, or 28% of current consensus FY26 estimates.
- NT$5.9bn NYPCB stake sale within previously announced scope; not planning for additional trim. On 5 May, NPC filed for a disposition to trim its NYPCB stake by 5.959mn shares, which, upon approval, will enable the company to sell shares from 8 May to 7 Jun. NYPCB share declined by 6% the next day, vs Taiex +0.9%. Chairman Wu clarified that such disposal announced is part of the 11 Mar board-approved plan (i.e., not an incremental "second" sell-down). The March authorization was to sell ~3% of NYPCB stake (19.385mn shares) by year-end; management disclosed 13.426mn shares have already been sold. Given NPC's >50% holding in NYPCB (~66.97% pre stake sale), any disposal is not recorded as a disposal gain in P&L, but instead increases retained earnings, implying no EPS uplift from gain recognition; in contrast, Nanya Tech (29.28% stake) disposals can be recognized as gains.

Investment Thesis, Valuation and Risks

Nan Ya Plastics Corp (Overweight; Price Target: NT$125.00)

Investment Thesis

NPC is a maker of polyester, chemicals (mainly MEG/BPA), PVC plastics and electronic materials. We are OW on NPC on the back of emerging EPS positives from a multi-year PCB/CCL supply tightness. NPC is a vertically integrated PCB producer, supplying upstream materials such as copper clad laminate (CCL) to its subsidiary Nanya PCB (67% stake; consolidated into NPC). While we estimate that >90% of NPC's electronic materials sales are commodity-grade with lower margins, an improving product mix, utilization uptick and price hikes on the back of tightening industry S&D in the coming years should drive OPM upside for the segment, in our view.

Valuation

Our Jun-27 PT of NT$125 is based on a one-year forward P/B of 2.5x, mirroring the historical peak level multiple in the 2010-11 era. This is a reflection of the structural improvement in the electronics material segment margin. We see NPC's ROE improving to >15% over the next two years. For comparison, NPC's historical 10-year average P/B and ROE are 1.6x and 9%, respectively.

Risks to Rating and Price Target

Downside risks include weaker-than-expected MEG/BPA demand due to a weak macro or tariffs, a deceleration in global AI/datacenter capex, unsuccessful PCB/substrate price hikes, and a loss of electronic materials market share.

Explanation of Equity Research Ratings, Designations and Analyst(s) Coverage Universe:

J.P. Morgan uses the following rating system: Overweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will outperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst’s, or the Research Analyst’s team’s, coverage universe); Neutral (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will perform in line with the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst’s, or the Research Analyst’s team’s, coverage universe); and Underweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe. NR is Not Rated. In this case, J.P. Morgan has removed the rating and, if applicable, the price target, for this stock because of either a lack of a sufficient fundamental basis or for legal, regulatory or policy reasons. The previous rating and, if applicable, the price target, no longer should be relied upon. An NR designation is not a recommendation or a rating. Some stocks under coverage have a rating but no price target; in these cases, we expect the stock will outperform/perform in line/underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe of the relevant duration of the region. In our Asia (ex-Australia and ex-India) and U.K. small- and mid-cap Equity Research, each stock's expected total return is compared to the expected total return of a benchmark country market index, not to those Research Analysts' coverage universe. If it does not appear in the Important Disclosures section of this report, the certifying Research Analyst's coverage universe can be found on J.P.
